Decoration of eggs is an integral part of folk traditions related to Easter. At the same time it has emerged as an autonomous art form and ornamented eggs could be made, collected or exhibited as works of art independent from the festive occasion.

The museum is a diverse and rich collection of folk art motives applied to eggs. The primary origin of the art works is in Europe, especially the Carpathian basin region.

Works of local folk artists are shown by regions.

The museum houses pieces uncommon in Europe representing far away cultures like Israel, China or Indonesia.

In the displays are folk art and applied art works using traditional egg motives.

Future development of the museum will include a technical library and research center. These facilities and the collection's professional quality catalogue will help to satisfy in depth interest of visitors and professionals.
